About me

Motivated second-year IT student with a strong interest in technology, programming, and problem-solving. Proactive with a strong commitment to continuous learning and improvement.

Known for putting in consistent effort, taking initiative, and actively seeking opportunities to learn and improve. Eager to gain practical IT experience through internships, learnerships, or entry-level roles. During my studies, I have come to appreciate teamwork during Team projects and I understand how important teamwork in the professional environment is in order to accomplish a common goal.
